The Lost Child

There was a lost child alone in the park. He was only four years old. When I found him he was by the swings crying, and sad. He was dressed with green shorts, a red and blue tee shirt, and tennis shoes. His hair was blond, brown eyes and he looked sweaty because it was a hot summer day. I talked to him because to me he seemed lost, and his parents were not around. I asked his name, he told me it was Mike. He said that he walked alone from home to the park because his mom was taking a nap. We walked and talked for a while. I told Mike that it was not a good idea to be alone in the park. After some time we walk back to his house and his mom was waiting for him worried that something had happend to him. She was glad to see us. She thanked me for taking him back. It felt good to see him at home safe.
